New excitement in a portable radio—THE SEARCHER brings you automatic Public Service Band Scanning, as well as FM/AM entertainment and news.

Now, in addition to fine FM/AM sound, listen to the exciting "slice of life" on VHF Public Service (hi) channels—firefighters responding to alarms, police on calls, ship-to-ship, ship-to-shore, Coast Guard emergency, and much more. Unlike most scanning radios, The Searcher allows you to select and pre-set the four frequencies you want to scan and change them at will to any frequency you want...there are no separate crystals to buy or install. The unit automatically scans the selected frequencies and "locks on" to the transmission when one of the frequencies is being used. Fully portable, 14" x 9" x 11", The Searcher plays on 6 'D' batteries (not included) or 115V AC house current.

At long last there is a MARINE WATER HOSE you can live with. Ours becomes FLAT when the pressure is off—stores in ⅓ the space.

Easier to get along with a number of other ways, too; it rolls up quickly and smoothly in a single strand coil—won't twist or kink like ordinary hoses. And because it automatically drains itself when the water is off, it's lighter to carry and there's nothing left to dribble onto your ankles, or into the locker when you're putting it away. And this is a hose you'll never have to replace—it's reinforced with nylon truck tire cord, and as tough as any made. It won't burst even if shut off at the nozzle and left in the sun under full water pressure; will remain super-flexible, even in zero weather. Special white vinyl construction is non-toxic, for safe delivery of drinking water. ⅝" diameter for ample flow, solid brass couplings, 50 ft. length.

#342. Flat Marine Hose $14.50 (8)

CHRIS-CRAFT C-TREDS, THE PLAYER'S SHOES

Chris-Craft C-Treds, for men and women, prove that shoes designed for supreme comfort and rugged play can also look sensational. They're styled with flattering rounded toes in rich, powder-soft suede and crisp cotton twill. They come in marvelous colors, too, so you can color-key your shoes to the rest of your boating or playing outfit; to your leisure fashions, too. But great looks aren't everything. C-Treds have bouncy, gum-rubber "pillar" soles that solidly grip any surface, wet or dry, the moment they touch...soles that won't pick up or hold deck-marring sand and gravel. They're superb for tennis, too, and will probably last through several seasons of tough use, afloat or ashore. Inside there is the comfort of terry sock linings and padded ankles and heels; arch supports and achilles tendon pads. The last follows the natural contour of the foot for increased comfort.

FOR THE OPEN-WATER SAILOR, THERE'S A WORLD OF ASSURANCE IN THIS EMERGENCY POSITION INDICATING RADIO BEACON.

For boats that operate more than 20 miles offshore, this new Andrews MRB-510 Marine Rescue Beacon offers a significant measure of safety and security. Always ready for instant use, the transmitter, when activated by extending the antenna and flicking a toggle switch, broadcasts an internationally recognized distress signal on aviation emergency frequencies 121.5Mhz and 243.0Mhz. Coverage is over an area of more than 32,000 square miles, well beyond the surface line-of-sight range of typical marine VHF transmitters. These frequencies are constantly monitored by commercial, general, government and military aircraft and are used to direct search and rescue planes to the site of downed aircraft and vessels in distress. Completely waterproof, the MRB-510 floats upright and has its own self-contained battery pack that will provide a strong signal for 48 continuous hours. A stainless steel bale handle permits attachment of a lanyard to secure the transmitter to belt or raft. A red pilot light enables you to see that the transmitter is working properly. Built by NARCO, one of the world's largest manufacturers of sophisticated electronics for general aviation, the modest cost of the MRB-510 is a worthwhile investment in safety and peace of mind for all offshore boating, power and sail.

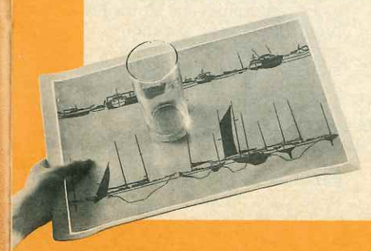
No unnecessary bulk impedes freedom of action, and rips or punctures will not impair its extraordinary flotation properties. The nylon shell is reversible—high-visibility orange for sea, rich blue for shore. Parka hood furls neatly and smoothly into collar; nylon heavy-duty zipper. An exclusive Chris-Craft design. NON-SKID PLACE MATS—a good idea we've borrowed from the airlines. (It's an even better idea for boats.)

We can think of no better aid to a relaxed meal afloat than these non-slip place mats, which minimize the peril of spilled food and shattered crockery. Made of a special formula, paper-thin polystyrene, these remarkable mats cling to the table surface below, and to the cups, dishes, glassware on top—they'll keep objects from sliding on an incline of as much as 40°...even water and grease won't affect their gripping ability. Decorative as well as functional, their 'Power-and-Sail' motif, printed in dark blue on the sky blue mat, add a nice nautical note to any table setting. Inexpensive enough to be disposable, yet sturdy enough to be reusable, they're practical, too, for lining refrigerator shelves, or to keep lamps, ash trays, and other ship's gear from sliding. Size 10¼" x 14¾".



#147. Non-Skid Place Mats, Package of 100 $3.50 (3)

Is it enough that your on-board FIRE EXTINGUISHERS meet Coast Guard requirements?

The 5 B:C rated extinguishers which satisfy Coast Guard requirements are fine as far as they go. The problem is, that in case of fire they may not go far enough. This new Kidde All-Purpose Mariner extinguisher has twice the fire-fighting capacity as the common 5 B:C units on the market. Moreover, it is effective against class A fires—those that occur in common combustibles such as wood, paper, fabric, plastic, rubber, etc.—which ordinary B:C rated units are not. The Kidde All-Purpose Mariner contains monoammonium phosphate based dry chemical—the non-toxic tri-class extinguishing agent proven effective on all three classes of fires—gasoline, grease, oil, (B); live electrical (C); and common combustibles (A). Fully Coast Guard approved, and UL rated high performance. Cylinder is rust-free aluminum, handsomely finished in white, with high-visibility "readiness" gauge. Comes with owner's manual and 2-year warranty.

SPEED AND SIMPLIFY CHART WORK WITH THE CHRIS-CRAFT NAVIGAIDE PROTRACTOR.

No need to rack your memory about whether to add or subtract Easterly or Westerly variation—the Chris-Craft Navigaide Protractor solves it for you instantly by inspection. It provides, simultaneously, True and Magnetic readings on courses and bearings; you don't even have to orient the protractor to the chart compass rose. Setting any line of the protractor grid over a meridian or parallel instantly aligns the protractor, making it easy to use on any Small Craft Chart, or folded section of a standard chart without a compass rose showing—a handy feature when charting on a cramped surface or in an open cockpit. The protractor arm gives direct distance measurement, too, on the four most popular chart scales. #3052. Chris-Craft Navigaide Protractor $3.95 (1)

MINI-COMPASS gives you really accurate bearings fast—day or night.

In our experience there's no finer or easier to use hand-bearing instrument than the Mini-Compass. For precise readings, the single-degree markings of the compass card are viewed through a prism, ten-times magnified. And because of outstandingly efficient damping, a series of bearings can be taken very quickly in conditions when ordinary compasses would be useless. At night when fixes become more crucial, yet more difficult to obtain accurately, the advantages of the Mini-Compass are even more marked. The permanent, built-in Tritium-gas radiation light performs at full efficiency without batteries or other maintenance throughout the life of the compass; and without the need to align a hair line, the bearing of a flashing light can be read off instantaneously as it appears above the magnified scale. Weighing only 3¼ oz., Mini-Compass can be kept on a neck lanyard comfortably handy for instant use; a heavy-duty all-around rubber collar protects it against damage. #3571. Mini-Compass $54.95 (2)

PAWLEYS ISLAND ROPE HAMMOCK.®

The first of these hammocks was handmade in the 1880's on the plantation coast of South Carolina by Capt. Josh Ward. This design is still used today. 800 to 1000 ft. of the finest premium grade 3-ply cotton rope is symmetrically hand-woven and tied with sailor's knots. Two aged oaken spreaders maintain the width of hammock, preventing it from closing around you. Hung in the shade of your favorite tree, between porch posts, or even swung between the mast and bow pulpit on the foredeck of your boat, the hammock's airy mesh makes breezes seem cooler and drinks more refreshing. Support ropes at each end are made fast to rustproof metal rings and chains for quick, secure hang-ups. Choice of 3 sizes.

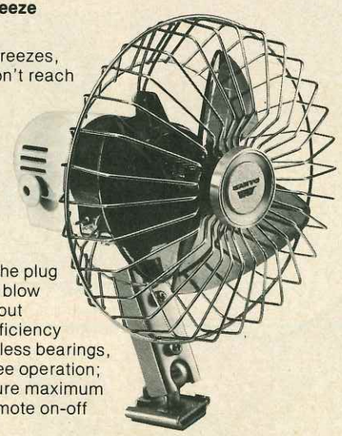
Summer cooler. This compact 12-VOLT FAN oscillates to move a cooling breeze to every corner of the cabin.



There's nothing wrong with sea breezes, except that on some days they don't reach into the cabin, the galley, the head. This efficient little fan keeps air on the move—helps keep windows and windshields from fogging, too. Pull a knob and the fan swings back and forth, 90°, to distribute air evenly; or you can push in the knob, tilt up or down to blow in any direction you wish. Reverse the plug and it becomes an exhaust fan to blow smoke, stale air, cooking odors, out through ports of hatches. High efficiency magnet motor, turning on frictionless bearings, will provide seasons of trouble-free operation; closely spaced safety guards insure maximum safety. Comes with 8-ft. cord, remote on-off switch, draws only .8 amps.

OIL-ABSORBENT PAD.

To help maintain a cleaner marine ecology, and a cleaner boat, these re-usable Oil-Absorbent Pads will readily mop up and eliminate oil or gasoline that may leak or spill into the bilge. The absorbent material in loose form absorbs 30 to 40 times its own weight in oil/gasoline. The white cloth material that forms the inner bag is designed to repel water and cause the oil/gasoline to be "wicked" through itself and be absorbed by the absorbent material. The outer material which has been tested against fresh and salt water, oil/gasoline products, and wear and tear, provides the overall strength to the pad. Re-usable, when the Pad becomes saturated with oil, it can be wrung out into a proper receptacle and used again. One of these pads, left floating in the bilge will not only help maintain cleanliness, but will aid in eliminating a potential fire hazard. 3 sizes. Oil Asorbent Pads #4089. 12'' x 12'' $5.95 (2
